Tina Thyme

As a new academic year begins, I'm excited to get back to a normal routine. Regular sew days and spring cleaning. It's a good time to clean your sewing studio and share those items you find no use for. We offer a "free" table for you to share your treasures with others.

I've been doing some research regarding Emotional Support Animals vs Service Dogs, which are not the same according to the ADA. ADA is written for Service Dogs and requires accommodations are provided for those allergic to dogs as well as the Service Dog's human. Therefore, we will designate seating on opposite sides of the room. We'll ask the dog be kept in the designated area so those with allergies are protected from dog dander. We don't want to exclude any member due to this situation. Please let me know if you are still troubled with this arrangement and other "reasonable accommodations" will be considered.

PROGRAM NOTES

Tony Jacobson, nationally recognized designer, author, and teacher, will be our featured guest for September. At the meeting he will share the "What If" of quilts. The versatility of his designs will be highlighted as he reveals what a difference value change, color change and fabric style can make in quilts. Invite a friend and enjoy an extensive trunk show.

Wednesday, September 4 Tony will teach a class using the pattern, Divergent Pinwheels. Gather up (32) 2½" strips in fall colors, your favorite color scheme or leftover strips to combine with a background fabric and join in the fun of making pinwheels in an innovative but easy technique. You can register and get complete supply list by signing up with Linda Belford. October will bring another guest, Ashley Niemyer, to share the design and printing aspects of quilting fabric.

SALT RIVER QUILT SHOW

The Seventh Annual Salt River Quilt Show is coming up soon. It will be held the October 5-6 at the Mark Twain Memorial Shrine in Florida, MO. This year's theme celebrates 100 Years at Mark Twain State Park and the categories in which quilts can be entered reflect our enjoyment of the outdoors and appreciation of history: "What's the Buzz About?" (wildflowers and their pollinators); "A Walk on the Wild Side" (wildlife past and present); "Into the Woods and Water" (camping, hiking, birding, fishing, boating, swimming – what do you like to do?); "Hints of the Past" (local history remembered – what was here in 1924 and what has changed in the last 100 years?); "Miscellaneous" (anything goes); and "Youth" (ages 18 and under). The quilt entry fee is $5 and you may enter as many as you wish. Quilts will be judged and ribbons and prizes awarded. Entries are due by September 27 and quilts will be hung on October 3. As in prior shows, if you wish to enter any quilts, Marianne Bodine will be glad to pick them up at the guild meetings on either September 3 or October 1, or at the September workshop, and will see that they are returned safely if you cannot pick them on October 6. An entry form can be obtained at Seventh Annual Salt River Quilt Show | Missouri State Parks (mostateparks.com) or ask Marianne for one. Hope to see some of your lovely quilts at the show!
